

Job Readiness Training: How it works

1. Involves a Learning Life Company (LLCo) Member, age 16 – 22 and a third-party 'Company'.

'Company' is any organization that agrees to assist in our mission to teach life skills and agrees to allow member(s) to work, for compensation, for an agreed upon time and purpose.

2. As part of their job skill, soft skill and career path training - LLCo will help the Member find a Company to hire them on a temporary basis.

It is similar to an Internship except:

- LLCo creates the job position and
- LLCo trains the Member on basic job skills,
- The Company agrees to participate in this job-readiness training.

*This may be a philanthropic endeavor for the company but it is not assumed to be a tax-deductible.

3. Member signs up for one of the 'job descriptions' we've created.
 - Jumping Journalism: Journalism
 - Savvy Sales Contractors: Sales
 - Get Fun Getting in the Game: Project Management. In development
4. LLCo is excluded from any financial transactions between the Member and Company.
5. Most of the Companies LLCo invites to participate would be the type that would hire a young adult and therefore have some vested interest in their job-readiness training.

Examples include: amusement parks, movie theatres, restaurants, and retail stores.
